Over Wiretap

'Papers' Ruling By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today allowed the government to proceed with the Pentagon Papers trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo without revealing to them who in the defense team was overheard in a "foreign-intelligence" wiretap.

Ellsberg and Russo are charged with espionage, conspiracy and misuse of government property in the publication of the once-secret study of the origins of the Vietnam war. Their trial in Los Angeles has been delayed since July 29 by the dispute over wiretapping.

The court did not comment on the issues as it handed down a routine order declining to hear an appeal by Ellsberg and Russo, who argued also that "foreign-intelligence" wiretaps without warrants are illegal.

A dissenting opinion was filed by Justice William O. Douglas who stayed the trial in July while the court was in its summer recess. Justice William J. Brennan Jr. also dissented.

In other action, the court:

—Denied a hearing to a Los Angeles newspaper reporter who was cited with contempt after he refused to divulge his sources for a story on the Charles Manson murder trial.

—Agreed to review a lower-court ruling banning charges for grain inspections on railroads.

Ellsberg and Russo needed the votes of at least four justices to have their appeal taken up by the court. The vote against them was seven to two.

Douglas said he regretted that his colleagues did not take the occasion to lay down some further ground rules for the conduct of criminal cases involving electronic surveillance. He also said that it was time "we hold that the confidences of the lawyer-client relationship remain inviolate."

Douglas said he had examined the logs "and it appears that the electronics surveillance was of a telephone of a foreign national and that the intercepted conversations in this case had nothing to do with respect to activities of foreign persons or their agents."

Reached at his Cambridge, Mass., home, Ellsberg said the decision reflected the court's attitude toward interrupting the trial rather than on the merits of the legal issues raised. He said he had no idea when his trial would resume.

"Now, we're really back to the issues of the case," said Ellsberg. "Prior to my indictment, leaking or revealing official information to the press was not a crime. If I'm convicted, leaking becomes a crime."

In Los Angeles, Russo told a newsman he was not surprised "knowing the character of the Supreme Court today." He accused the government attorneys of "dragging their feet" in filing papers during the appeal in order to delay the trial until after President Nixon's election.

"If we are able to testify freely, it's going to be very embarrassing to the government," Russo said.

"It's obvious to me that they have been trying to manipulate the timing of the trial. They wanted to maintain all of their options."

He said he was shocked that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had equated the Pentagon Papers with the Watergate bug-in incident.

"How can we get a fair trial now?" he asked.

Last Aug. 9, U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne of Los Angeles, who was presiding at the trial, sent the jurors home until the court settled the appeal.

Shortly after the trial had begun, the government submitted to Judge Byrne a surveillance log on one of the defense's 16 lawyers and consultants. Subsequently, the government said the wiretap was for purposes of "foreign intelligence" and was authorized by the attorney general without the supervision of a judge.

Ellsberg and Russo argued that the defense should be permitted to see the log to determine if the government gained evidence through an illegal tap. They also contend there should be a hearing in the federal district court on the wiretap issue.

Bryne, who examined the log, concluded the surveillance was irrelevant to the case.

Ellsberg and Russo's appeal challenged this holding primarily on the basis of a 1969 Supreme Court decision that defendants in a criminal trial are entitled to examine "bugging" records.

million ransom for the plane and its passengers. An undisclosed amount of money was given to the sky pirates during a stop in Chattanooga, Tenn., Saturday. Southern refused to say how much money had been given to them.

There also were several other unanswered points:

—Were the hijackers screened for weapons when they boarded the Southern jet at Birmingham shortly before they commandeered the plane Friday night?

—Will Cuba return the ransom money and the hijackers to the United States?

—Why did the FBI order its marksmen to shoot the tires of the hijacked Southern DC9 and endanger the lives of the passengers and crew? An FBI spokesman declined to comment.

Police and family members identified the hijackers as Melvin Charles Cale, 21, of Oak Ridge, Tenn.; his half-brother, Lewis K. Moore, 27, of Detroit, and Henry D. Jackson, 25, also of Detroit.

The FBI here said the U.S. attorney's office in Birmingham, Ala., had been authorized to file air-piracy charges against the three.

Cale was described as an escapee from the Nashville Community Work Release Center.

Jackson and Moore were described as close friends who became embittered after losing a $4-million lawsuit in which they accused Detroit police of brutality. They forced male passengers to remove their pants and shot the copilot after threatening to "put a bullet in your head."

The hijackers, reportedly armed with guns and grenades, had demanded a $10-

Christmas Parade Entries Are Needed

Entries are desperately needed to make the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce's Christmas Parade a success this year, Chuck Lawrence, executive manager of the Chamber, said Monday.

This far only 20 schools, clubs and churches have indicated they will sponsor a float in this year's parade, to be held at 10 a.m., Dec. 2. Lawrence said. Last year 80 floats participated in the parade, he added.

Lawrence said organizations desiring to sponsor a float must make the necessary arrangements with his office no later than Friday.

Will Discuss Sharing

Another Council Session Set

A condemnation hearing and a discussion on priorities for spending federal revenue sharing money will occupy the City Council in a combined business meeting and special session at 7:30 o'clock tonight at City Hall.

The condemnation hearing will center on recommendations by City Building Inspector Woodrow Garrison calling for the demolition of dwellings located at 1316 South Missouri and 1700 East Fourth.

Garrison declined to identify the owners of the houses in question before the meeting. He said he sent official requests to the owners Aug. 11 telling them they had 20 days to demolish the dwellings before further city action would be taken.

The demolition of the buildings was not completed within the deadline, necessitating Garrison's request for a public hearing on the matter. In the interim, Garrison said, the structure on Missouri has been "90 per cent torn down but is still not completely removed."

Garrison added he will have photographs of the dwellings to present to the council for consideration.

Mayor Jerry Jones Monday said the council's discussion of revenue sharing plans will center on the formulation of priorities on items to be financed by the city's first check for $207,000.

At a meeting Oct. 26, the mayor and council discussed such items as park improvements, twice-a-week sanitation pickups on a year-round basis, wheelchair ramps in the downtown area and a city-operated ambulance service.

Under federal regulations, the city is not required to submit outlines detailing expenditures made from this first payment. Future spending practices, under additional allotments to arrive annually, will, however, have to be accounted for.

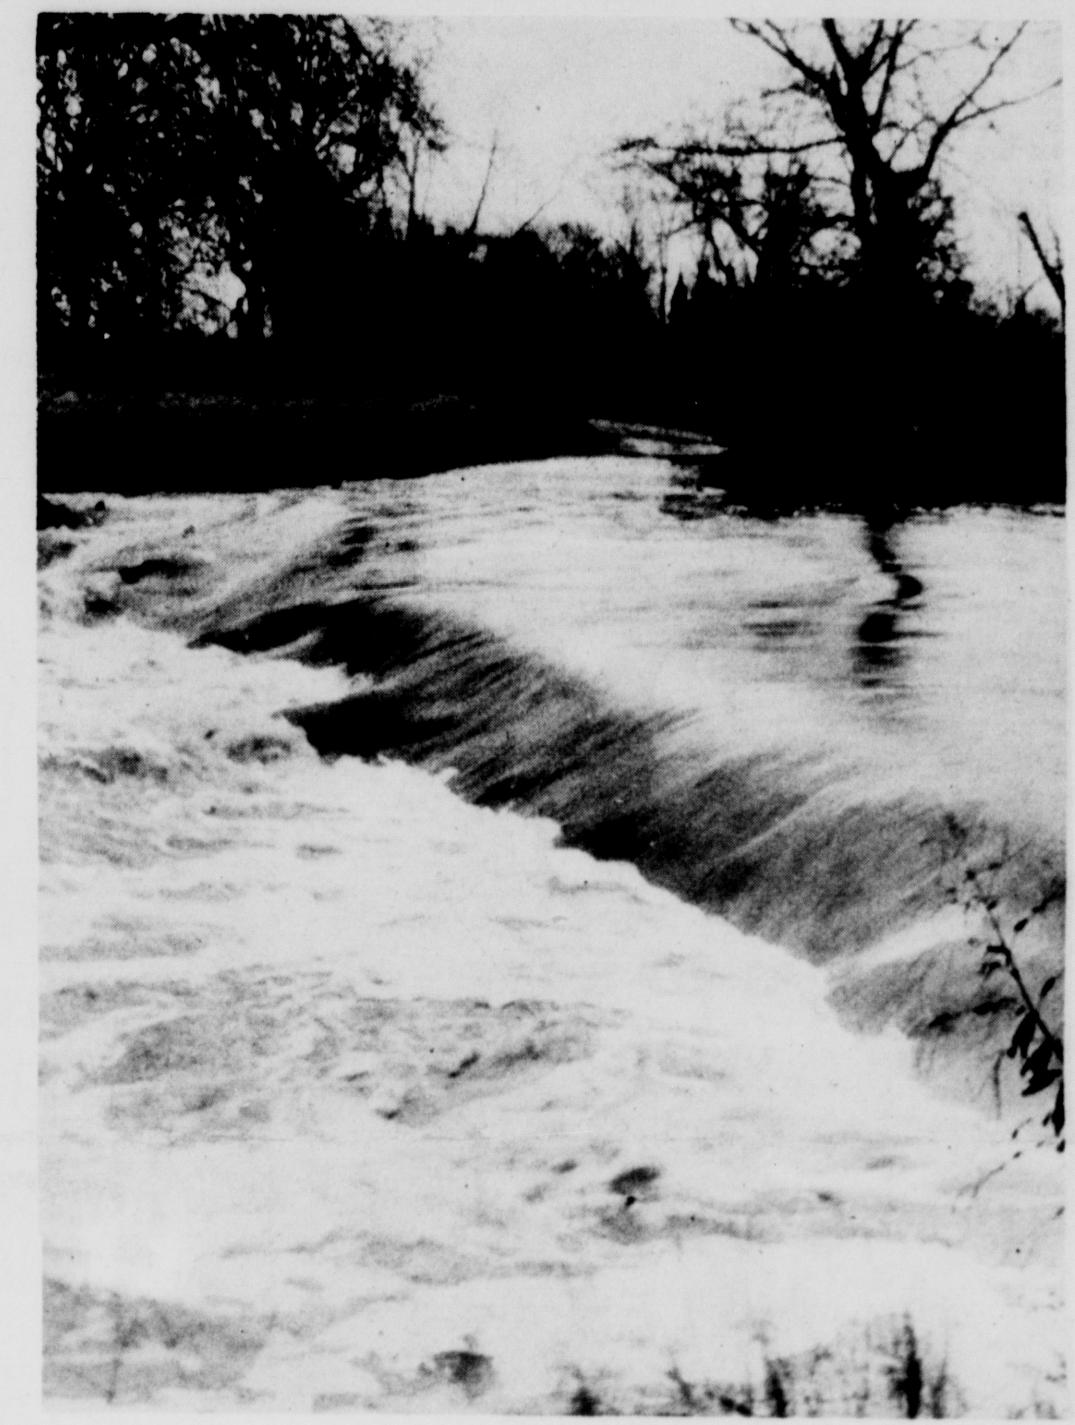

Tonight's meeting is closed to the public, but open to the press.

Downpour Enlarges Streams

Locally heavy rains totalling 1.74 inches in a 24-hour period Sunday and Monday produced hazardous driving conditions as well as flash flood warnings throughout the southern part of the state. According to a construction worker at the West Highway 50 construction site, Muddy Creek (top photo), raised nearly 1 1/2 feet in one hour Monday morning, forcing a halt in road work. Logs swept downstream by the swift current caused the log jam seen in the foreground at the base of the Highway 50 bridge over Muddy Creek. The other photo shows what is believed to be a small tributary of Muddy Creek just north of Dresden. The road in the background, which crosses the normally shallow creekbed, is the only access to the Bruce Richey farm, Route 3, Sedalia. Richey said that when it rains like this he is just trapped until the creek goes down, which usually takes three to four hours after the rain has stopped. Beyond this torrent is another creek which must be crossed in the same manner to get to the Richey farm and it, too, had overflowed its banks. When asked if being trapped by the swollen creeks presented any special problems, Richey replied, "Not really, it gives me a chance to catch up on my sleep."

Talks With Thieu

Haig Returns To Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special envoy Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. was en route back today to report to President Nixon on his latest round of talks in Saigon with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The White House said Haig would arrive at Andrews Air Force Base at about 2:30 p.m. EST and immediately board a helicopter to fly to Nixon's Camp David, Md., retreat. He will be accompanied by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Ziegler again refused to say if or when Kissinger would meet again with North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho. "We'll let you know when Dr. Kissinger goes to Paris," Ziegler said.

Responding to questions, Ziegler said after Kissinger meets with Thieu "there will be further consultations required" with the South Vietnamese and perhaps the North Vietnamese.

This statement seemed to signal a delay in concluding the Vietnam peace talks since Kissinger said on Oct. 26 that the agreement could be wrapped up in one meeting lasting three or four days.

But Ziegler said his statement about further consultations was not meant to suggest any shift in the view presented by Kissinger.

Nixon conferred with Kissinger for one hour, 20 minutes today before flying to Camp David, Ziegler said. He confirmed reports from Saigon that Haig took to Thieu a letter from Nixon and that he is carrying back a letter from Thieu.

He wouldn't divulge contents of the letters.

Kissinger weekended in New York, seeing a Broadway play and a professional football game after which he mingled in the locker room with quarterback Joe Namath and others of the New York Jets.

Just when Kissinger will head for Paris to meet again with North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho remains a secret. Administration officials maintained their air of confidence, however, about moving toward final accord on ending the war.

Hanoi envoy Xuan Thuy anticipated a further Kissinger-Tho meeting in a Paris interview over the weekend, though he held to North Vietnam's position that the session should be devoted to procedures for signing the proposed nine-point pact—not to altering it.

U.S. officials in Saigon indicated Haig's talks with Thieu narrowed U.S.-South Vietnamese differences, apparently clearing the way for resumption of the private negotiations in Paris.

But the Saigon newspaper Tin Song, which is controlled by Thieu's closest adviser, said Haig and the president had made "no further progress" in their talks.

Equipment Buildup To South Continues

SAIGON (AP) — The United States delivered 31 amphibious vehicles to South Vietnam today as part of its equipment buildup anticipating a cease-fire. Meanwhile U.S. B52 bombers continued heavy raids across all four countries of Indochina in attempts to blunt the similar North Vietnamese buildup.

The 30-foot amphibious troop and cargo carriers arrived by ship from Okinawa. They were the same models as those used by the U.S. Marines when they operated in the northern provinces of South Vietnam in the late 1960s.

Communist attacks in South Vietnam slackened to their lowest level since Sept. 30, the Saigon command said. It reported 62 assaults, including 39 rocket and mortar attacks, during the 24-hour period ending at dawn.

But South Vietnamese marines and paratroopers battling for territory in the northernmost Quang Tri province were hit with 1,000 artillery and mortars rounds. The Saigon command said casualties were light.

Enemy commandos attacked three government militia outposts in three adjoining provinces in the southwestern part of the Mekong Delta. The Saigon command said 14 government and 18 enemy troops were killed and 36 Saigon soldiers wounded.

Jobs To Be Eliminated As Bases Are Closed

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the election over, the Pentagon is preparing a new round of base-closings and reductions that will eliminate thousands of civilian defense jobs.

The cutbacks probably will not be announced until after Congress returns in January, defense sources said.

The base cuts are being planned in response to President Nixon's orders to trim the rolls of civil service employees and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's promise to Congress to absorb $1.5 billion in budget cuts this fiscal year.

Just before the 1972 election year began, David Packard left office as deputy secretary of defense with a parting complaint that the Pentagon could save $1 billion a year by closing unneeded bases, were it not for political constraints.

The Army, Navy and Air Force long have wanted to shut down a number of bases they consider marginal. But, anticipating election year protests from congressmen and senators with large numbers of defense employees among their constituents, they waited.

Now the "political realities," as one Pentagon official termed them, are temporarily over though the list of bases most likely to be closed or cut back is being kept under wraps for the time being.

However, the Army is known to be planning a reorganization that, among other things, likely would merge the First Army headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md., and the Third Army headquarters in Atlanta, eliminating one of them. The Army also is expected to recommend retrenching helicopter training-and-maintenance bases now that American forces are virtually out of Vietnam.

Some sources indicate that possibly two naval shipyards, one on each coast, might be shut down. They were not named either.

Nixon gave a fresh indication of things to come last week when he said in a published interview that civilian defense employees "are getting in the way of each other over in the Pentagon and around the country" and that "they are going to have to take a thinning down."

Retired Teacher Wins Her Battle

WINDSOR, England (AP) — A retired former schoolmistress has won a lone, 20-year-battle to get rid of a parking lot in the center of Windsor.

In 1952, when the town paved over the two-acre tract known as Bachelor's Acre, Doris Mellor objected. She claimed the site was common land, the property of the people, and had been for 800 years.

The Windsor Borough Council brushed her off, but Miss Mellor wouldn't give up. Now the Common Land Commission has upheld her contention and ordered the paving removed and the grass put back. It will cost the council 30,000 pounds — about $72,000 — a year in parking tolls.

"There were a lot of Doubting Thomases who thought I would never succeed," said the 78-year-old woman, "but there was never any doubt in my mind."

Mariner Success Recalled

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A year ago today, a 2,200-pound spacecraft whose trip cost $125 million slipped into orbit around Mars and began making scientific history.

Mariner 9 was the first man-made object to circle another planet. Before it stopped sending data back to earth last Oct. 27, it transmitted 7,329 pictures that changed scientists' ideas about the Red Planet.

"The biggest thing is that Mars is really more earth-like than we expected from previous missions," said Dr. Thomas Vrebalovich, assistant project scientist for Mariner 9 at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here.

"The mission also raised a slim possibility of life there now."

In 349 days of mapping, Mariner told man more about the neighboring planet than he had learned in three centuries of looking at it through telescopes.

A picture emerged of a planet with an atmospheric pressure one-hundredth that of earth, where windstorms rage around the globe at 115 miles an hour, where volcanic mountains spread 300 miles across and a 20,000-foot-deep canyon stretches 3,000 miles.

Cowboy's Boot No Longer Safe

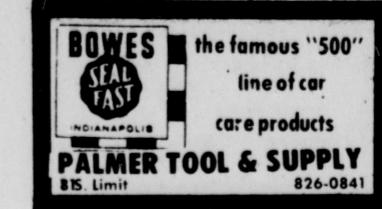

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — An old cowboy's boot often was his bank, but even that isn't safe anymore.

Robert Bridge told Salt Lake City police Sunday he put $150 in bills inside his stocking, then put on his cowboy boots.

Bridge said he was listening to a record player and fell asleep. When he awoke, the boots and stockings had been removed and the money was missing, he said.

Singer's Career Is Built on Love

By EVE SHARBUCK
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people came up to singer-comedienne Julie DeJohn on a street recently and said, "Hey, aren't you...?"

"Julie, ever the witty 300-pound showwoman, replied, "How could you miss me?"

But she was delighted, and later told her publicist, "I think things are finally beginning to happen for me."

The woman people recognize on the street began her entertainment career as half of the singing DeJohn Sisters. When sister Dux decided to get married, Julie went solo, "even though I'm built double." She is a frequent guest on television talk shows and credits Mike Douglas, with whom she has appeared many times, for much of her success.

"I know where I'm going. I weigh things and decide what's important, and I have to put the blinkers on once in a while," she said in a rare serious moment.

Julie says people—even relatives—ask why she doesn't give up show business, stay home and take care of her family—husband Dave Patterson and sons David, 8, and Pat, 7.

"If my career interfered with my family, I'd give it up, much as I enjoy it. When Dave and I married we had a talk. He is a teacher and talented in other areas, and we decided if we did the things he was trained to do, he could make maybe $300 a week, and I could work in an office and make about $125. So we decided we'd keep on with the show business thing. Dave handles all the arrangements, all the publicity."

"When we travel we take the boys along. We get their homework from their teachers and set up a regular schoolroom in the hotel. We put the American flag atop the television set and have opening exercises. Dave teaches the classes and handles physical education. I'm the librarian and music teacher," Julie said.

"The boys love it. We're tourists everywhere we go. We see the sights and discuss what we saw. And last year, both boys were at the head of their class. I was so proud."

When she's not on the road performing in clubs and for television, Julie DeJohn is Mrs. Patterson with a five-bedroom home she loves in a Philadelphia suburb.

"I always wanted a house," she said. "I do all the housework and the cooking. Now we're redecorating, doing the library and all that, and I've been helping Dave wallpaper, covering myself in paste."

"When I know company's coming, I cook ahead and freeze things. Then I can spend time with them while they're here. All of this represents stability to me."

"We all help each other. The kids keep their toys straight and they love doing that. They know my work, singing and traveling—that's what I love."

Using her size as a basis for comic routines has been good business for Julie, who says every woman has a weight problem or thinks she does.

"I hate fat lady clothes, and I hate those slim models who always wear them, so I design my own. I draw what I want and my dressmaker whips it right up," she said.

Julie is a fan of rich fabrics, prints and bright colors. She has new dresses of tiger and leopard print, and favors pastel colors, even in winter. She likes knits that don't wrinkle for traveling.

"I don't wear 'basic black.' My husband hates it on me. He loves me in things that brighten my face. I love vests, long or short, because they hide things... I've lots to hide! I like sleeves. Fat arms are ugly. When you do your own clothes, you never see them duplicated on anyone else."

Julie says the dressmaker is the only one who can tell when she loses 50 or 60 pounds.

"Even my husband doesn't notice," she lamented, and went on to explain she had developed bad eating habits as a child.

"They can send a man to the moon, so why can't they make a head of lettuce that tastes like lasagna?" queried Julie.

"There is discrimination against fat people," she added. "Fat Americans are people too."

She has joined a campaign for larger seats on commercial airlines and for longer seatbelts, "so you don't always have to ask for an extension."

About Christmas

New Warmth Shown in Book

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Marjorie Holmes doesn't claim to have created a new plot for her latest novel. The story is, in fact, nearly two thousand years old.

"My objective was to take the principals of the Christmas story off the holiday cards that have made them into stereotypes and turn them into human beings with whom today's people can relate," explains the author of "Two From Galilee."

"It's the greatest love story of all time—the love of two young people under those trying circumstances," she says of her tale of Mary and Joseph facing scandal, family conflict and an awesome responsibility as a result of Mary's pregnancy.

Admitting that such a book might have been considered sacrilegious up until a few years ago, she adds, "Now the world is ready for it."

The petite Miss Holmes, whose numerous previous works include the best-seller, "I've Got To Talk To Somebody, God," got the inspiration for "Two From Galilee" appropriately enough on a Christmas Eve.

"I had gone to church with my teen-age daughter," she recalls, "and the fragrance of the hay in the manger suddenly gave me a great sense of the reality of the event. It hit me that it really happened, and Mary was a girl not any older than my daughter sitting beside me that night."

"My whole being as a woman responded to the idea," she continues. "Birth is a miracle,

NEW YORK (AP) — Shocking pink invitations herald a glittering charity gala priced at $250 per couple, and despite a recession the benefit raises money.

Charity balls are not dying even on their last legs at United Cerebral Palsy of New York, Inc.

This year the annual "Evening In Vegas" party is expected to garner more than $125,000 for the fund, which boasts that 85 per cent of every dollar collected goes into the organization's work in developing things such as rubella vaccine or establishing rehabilitation centers. years ago and has two more volumes scheduled for publication in 1973. She not only writes a weekly newspaper column and a monthly magazine column, but travels extensively for lectures and radio and television shows.

In addition she loves dancing and walking and, as a native of Storm Lake, Iowa, where she was born "practically on the lake," she often swims three times a day. It's a grueling schedule that belies her fragile appearance. Where does she get all the energy?

"From God and vitamins," she laughs.

She and her husband, Lynn Michell, live in McLean, Va., and have four grown children for whom they always tried to make Christmas a meaningful holiday.

"I could smell the odors and hear the sounds and see the sights that people saw then," she says with note of awe. "It was a moving experience to be in Galilee because I had been so immersed in it. I felt quite at home."

Once the research was completed the writing came easily, says Miss Holmes, who writes five days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 or 6 p.m. whether she's "inspired" or not.

"Once I get at the typewriter I get inspired," declares the bubbling blue-eyed blond. "I may start with no joy for my day's work but after several hours I'm so excited I can't stop."

The author, recipient of the 1972 Woman of Achievement award from the National Federation of Press Women, teaches writing classes at universities and workshops. She admits that writing takes talent but insists that possessors of such talent should respect it enough to practice every day.

"And there are great flashes of inspiration," she adds, "marvelous moments when you should leave the dinner party, leave the dishes, get up if it's the middle of the night—and write."

Miss Holmes has been practicing what she preaches since her first book was published 30

Double-Parked Cars Draw Reader's Peeve

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with armored cars, linen vans, taxis, and so on, that park in the traffic lane nearest the curb in downtown areas. They are hard to get by in extra heavy traffic and this can make a desired turn illegal when one does get around the vehicle. — MRS. D. W.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I need to know how to treat an old wooden kitchen bowl so as to keep juices, grease, etc., from soaking into the wood and leaving a flavor or stain. — MARJORIE

DEAR POLLY — M. H. wanted to know how an arthritic could wash and wax a floor. I use a wire-handled dishmop to get in the corners. A long-handled scrub brush with a cloth under it will serve the same as an arm to scrub the floor. The brush helps keep the cloth in perfect control and the cloth is easy to pick up for rinsing when necessary. I prefer using a regular washcloth as it leaves no lint and is easy for arthritic fingers to rinse and wring out. A wax job can be done in the same manner. — ESTHER

DEAR POLLY — Place calomine lotion or other such lotion you may use often in a clean empty roll-on deodorant bottle and the little ones can treat their own poison ivy, etc. No spills or drips. I never put ground meat in the freezer in a fat lump as it comes from the market but dump it into a plastic bag, roll and press into a thin sheet so it will thaw quickly and evenly. — MRS. R. H. V.

agents opened fire on the plane's tires in Orlando.

Johnson told newsmen in a Miami hospital that the FBI gunfire "really provoked the hijackers. They told me they were going to kill me in front of everyone to make an example out of me." Buchanan said the copilot ducked as the hijacker fired.

Buchanan said the pilot, Capt. Bill Haas of La Grange, Tenn., was "as courageous a person as I ever met. He instilled confidence."

When an ambulance returned Johnson to the Southern relief plane after hospital treatment in Miami, passengers waiting to be flown to their original destination gave him a standing ovation.

The flight out of Miami Sunday night, which retraced the hijacked plane's original course in reverse, marked the end of a hopscotch journey that started when the twin-engine jet was commanded over Alabama Friday night.

During its commandeered flight, the plane landed at Jackson, Miss.; Cleveland, Ohio; Toronto, Canada; Lexington, Ky.; Chattanooga; Havana; Key West and Orlando, and Havana again for a final landing.

Public Confidence at Low Ebb

By LOUIS HARRIS

Confidence of the public in the leaders of both public and private institutions in this country continues at a low ebb. Out of 16 institutions recently tested, a majority of the public could not say they felt "a great deal of confidence" in the leaders of a single one. In a similar poll back in 1966, majorities of the people expressed strong confidence in the men running half of the key institutions tested then.

Nonetheless, marginal progress has been registered in the regard people have for leaders of certain sectors of the private and public establishment. Higher percentages expressed confidence than they did a year ago in nine of 16 cases. Five groups of leaders, however, registered a decline in respect, while there was no change toward the remaining two.

In late October, a nationwide cross section of 1,648 households was asked: "As far as people running (read list) are concerned, would you say you have a great deal of confidence, only some confidence, or hardly any confidence at all in them?"

The leaders of the mass media do worse than any other leadership group in our society except for organized labor. The press held its own during the past year — at an 18 per cent confidence level, but both television and advertising continued to slide. The media came in for heavy criticism from both major party candidates in the presidential election.

Scientists gained five points over their 1971 showing, moving from 32 to 37 per cent in the "great deal of confidence" column. They are more respected by higher income, college-educated, suburban dwellers, and young people than by other groups, but are still well below the 56 per cent who gave them top rating back in 1966.

Military leaders scored one of the biggest comebacks in 1972, moving from 27 to 35 per cent in the top confidence category. However, they are still criticized by most of the college-educated, the young, and the blacks, and are still far below their high water mark of 62-per cent high regard recorded in 1966.

Educators, once near the top, continued their fall from public favor. Religious leaders made relatively small gains. The latter have their biggest problem among affluent groups. Educators are weakest among the highest income groups who have also received the most education.

A one-point rise for union leaders kept them barely ahead of the low men on the totem pole of public confidence, advertising executives. Labor leaders evoked no more than 20 per cent of their own union members to express a great deal of confidence in those running U.S. unions.

All in all, the road back to public confidence for major American institutions in both the private and public sectors clearly is a long one and appears to be uphill all the way. Lack of confidence is expressed equally for leaders of the private and public areas. There is virtually no desire in the country to have the federal government try to solve the confidence gap in the private sector. Rather, people are looking for much better leadership to emerge within the major institutions in our society, and this demand can make the seats of power rather precarious in the years ahead.

Touchy Situation On Reward Money

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two Water Department truck drivers found $92,400 in a sewer and gave the money to authorities.

The men have been offered a tax-free reward in excess of the traditional 10 per cent finder's fee often offered by federal agencies, attorney Anthony P. Baratta said Saturday.

However, their lawyer said, if the men go to court, a jury would feel "very sympathetic toward them." But they risk the chance of losing any reward if the jury decides against them.

Prepare
For Health
Surveys

A team of 20 volunteer interviewers met at the Federal Building here recently in preparation for an accident and health survey in Pettis County.

Between Nov. 25 and Dec. 5, the volunteer group will interview about 240 Pettis County families who were selected at random. Ken McFate, associate professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Missouri, is in charge of the program. Bob Heitmeyer, area youth specialist for the University of Missouri Extension Center, is chairman of the Pettis County effort.

McFate listed three primary objectives of the study: to obtain better statistical data on the number and causes of farm accidents; to obtain data on which sound safety educational programs can be structured to reduce farm accidents and fatalities; and to establish "benchmarks" from which educational programs can be effectively evaluated and, if necessary, altered.

Results obtained will be most helpful in developing long-range safety and health programs for Pettis County and Missouri," Heitmeyer said. He commended the 20 4-H junior leaders who volunteered to work on the project.

Other area counties included in the survey are Henry, Moniteau and Saline Counties.

Two income tax institutes for tax practitioners will be held in Sedalia Dec. 12 and 13 at the Ramada Inn. An "institute for urban tax reporting" will be held the first day and a "farm tax" institute will follow the second day. Both sessions begin at 8:30 a.m.

The instructors are from the Internal Revenue Service and the Missouri Department of Revenue. The program is sponsored by the University of Missouri Extension Division, the IRS and the state Revenue Department.

Outlines Correct Planting

Growing trees from seed can be an unusual and interesting hobby. Collecting the seed is an exciting beginning and provides a purpose for getting outdoors. As we hunt for seeds we develop an awareness and appreciation for the beauty and complexity of the natural things around us.

Permission should always be obtained before collecting seeds from either private or public lands.

For best results most seeds should be planted as soon as possible after they are collected. If they must be stored, they should be sealed in a plastic bag or jar and placed in the refrigerator until they can be planted.

Seeds such as dogwood, crabapple and hawthorne should be removed from the fleshy fruit before they are planted.

Seeds may be planted directly in the spot where they are to grow permanently. However, it is usually better to grow them in a seedbed where they can be planted.

Planting seeds is relatively simple. The seeds should be planted about twice as deep as their largest dimension, and about the same distance apart. Planting seeds in rows about six inches apart will make weeding easier during the next summer.

After the seeds are planted they should be mulched with a thick layer of leaves or straw to keep them from drying out. A wire mesh screen can be placed over the top to hold the mulch in place and prevent rodent damage.

Few people will live long enough to see the seeds they planted grow into mature trees. However, the trees will often live long after the planter is gone, providing shade and beauty for future generations.

As soon as all danger of frost is past in the spring, the mulch should be removed to allow the seedlings to grow.

"We estimate that in recent years, edible oil consumption may have approximated only 20 pounds per person," the report said.

Currently, the report said, the oil situation appears to be more acute. Production of butter, animal fats and other ingredients have not kept pace with consumer demand.

This level of intake is still minimum, however. If the Soviet plan for expanding livestock, dairy and poultry output continues to grow, additional soybeans could be required in the form of meal.

Sleepless Nights Worry One Reader

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a 31-year-old man, single and live at home with my parents. I work five days a week for a construction company and have a business of my own on the side. For over a year now I have had insomnia. I am unable to get a good night's sleep without taking a sleeping pill or aspirin or something to produce sleep. I don't know of anything that has been worrying me. I'm the type that can shake things off easily, but it seems that I am always turned on at bedtime, tired but just not sleepy.

I have lost so much sleep that it is beginning to show in my eyes. I look tired and I really am tired. Is there anything you can suggest for a good natural sleep without taking a pill? Could there be something physically or mentally wrong that I don't know about, such as nerves, smoking or other causes?

I have gone to doctors and they give me a check-up and tell me not to worry about it and give me some medicine to relax. One doctor told me about half of the world suffers from insomnia, but I know there must be a reason for my sleepless nights.

Dear Reader — There are many people who suffer from insomnia. I have received many letters from readers talking about what they have done to help themselves go to sleep. Perhaps the largest number of the methods recommended involved some form of relaxation. Many readers who are religiously inclined have written that they get a great deal of benefit out of reading the Bible and thinking of spiritual things before they go to sleep. Other people are able to go to sleep by reading until they are relaxed and go to sleep. Some have a snack before bed, which has its problems as far as calorie intake is concerned.

I suppose each person has to find his own best sleeping habits and they are just that — habits. A person who gets in the habit of having difficulty going to sleep will continue to have trouble.

My guess is that someone who is regularly employed and has a business on the side is probably an active individual who has enough things to think about that he just can't dispense with the day's business and relax enough to get a good night's sleep. I would suggest a good exercise program sometime earlier in the evening, well before the anticipated bedtime. Then

'Unique' Present Cost Her $9,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Jan Pruitt, a Houston housewife, wanted something unique as a Christmas surprise for her lawyer husband, Ronald.

She bought him a bottle of wine.

Well, it cost her $9,600.

Mrs. Pruitt was the high bidder at a wine auction at a downtown department store. The bottle she bought is indeed a rare wine—Chateau Mouton Rothschild 1925.

Only eight jeroboams of it were vinted. Six of these jugs—each four-fifths of a gallon—have disappeared. The seventh was auctioned recently in New York for $9,200.

Mrs. Pruitt said she knew very little about wine.

But she said her husband, who is putting in a wine cellar

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Carl RowanAfter 25 years a return to sanity

This is especially astonishing to anyone aware of the many times during the last quarter century when rivalry between the two Germans threatened to plunge the world into nuclear war.

Rowan
I remember a badly-shaken John F. Kennedy returning from a Vienna meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, rushing desperately to beef up U.S. conventional military forces after the Russian jolted him with an ultimatum about Berlin. Kennedy was all but convinced that the U.S. and Russia would fight over Germany, and he wanted to restrict it to conventional weapons if possible.

Kennedy would not have believed that passage of another decade could bring the kind of detente we now see.

Then there are the Koreas. Talking to each other for a change. Making noises suggesting that, despite the obstacles of willful, power-loving men at the top of each government, the same kind of thaw is in the cards for them.

After the investment of scores of thousands of U.S., Chinese and Korean lives and many billions of dollars in that fratricidal conflict, the passions now wane somewhat. The passage of a quarter-century permits Korean cousin to speak to cousin with something other than murderous contempt.

Then there is the People's Republic of China. In the first years of this last quarter century even a word or gesture of civility by an American was political suicide. The United States was caught up in mean recriminations over "who lost China" to the communists. Emotionalizing over China's involvement in the Korean war replaced any logical thinking about what must be the ultimate place in world society of a country inhabited by more than a fifth of the world's people.

Only after more than two decades, when only rabid American conservatives were still spleenful in their view of Peking, was it possible for a Republican President to open a new dialogue and set about normalizing relations with China.

We look back at the hours wasted in angry rhetoric hurled at China in the United Nations, in Congress, in U.S. political campaigning, and recall how the bitter insults were duplicated in Peking, and we shake our heads in sardonic laughter.

Now there is Indochina. Another of those quarter-century-long abominations. Peace may not be nearly as close at hand as the American people have been led to believe, but it seems clear that "reconciliation and concord" among the people of Vietnam is under way.

As the United States moves out of the picture, not only will there be a "coalition government" embracing all major political interests in the South, but we shall see close cooperation and eventual unity with North Vietnam.

And once again we shall shake our heads in wonderment that we sacrificed so many American lives, helped snuff out so many Asian lives, dropped so many bombs and destroyed so many people and things, only to see the principals to the conflict shake hands and take the more rational route of negotiations.

Maybe there is a lesson in all this. Perhaps, just as nature establishes a nine-month gestation period for humans and a 645-day period for elephants, a 25-year-period is required to convert international madness to sanity.

The lesson, then, would be that utter restraint is called for by the rest of mankind while combatants are given time to come back to their senses.

You think of the many times when the U.S. and Russia could have gone to war over the Germanys — and shudder.

You think how inviting it was for the United States to take rash action after the seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo, or North Korea's shooting down of our EC-121 aircraft, or the many periodic outbursts of violence in the demilitarized zone between the two Koreas. And you sigh in relief.

This is not to suggest that there will not be more killing in Indochina or more crises in Europe. An observation of the current state of mankind suggests that it is folly to expect lasting peace — or even a generation of it.

But it may be that if the great powers keep their cool, these regional and internal squabbles need not blow up into massive conflagrations. And who knows but what man might cut the period of transition from madness to sanity from 25 years to 20, or even to 10?

Assumptions risky
in political area

Answer true or false to the following:

✓ The labor-liberal-minorities coalition put together by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 was so overwhelming and unshakable that the Republican party was relegated henceforth to permanent also-ran status.

✓ After losing the California gubernatorial race in 1962, Richard Nixon was washed up in politics.

✓ The 1964 Goldwater debacle deflated conservatism as a significant political force.

✓ On the basis of his strong showing in the 1968 presidential and 1970 congressional campaigns, Edmund Muskie had the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination sewed up.

✓ Lyndon Johnson's 1968 decision to bow out only four years after his landslide signaled the end of the two-term presidency. The pressures and perils of the office had become such that no incumbent would care to try again, or make it if he did.

It is an old American post-election habit to make sweeping assumptions on the shape of the political future. Like ancient Romans studying entrails, we scrutinize and analyze the balloting results, seeking definite readings on the course of the body politic and individual political fates.

History has a way of tripping us up, however. And frequently in the very short term. Occasionally a party does go the way of the Whigs, an Alf Landon is so thoroughly buried as never to surface again on the national scene, a divisive issue such as Prohibition is decisively settled.

But the general rule in American politics is persistence and gradual, pragmatic change — for parties, ideas and personalities.

Elections are rarely as decisive as they are made to appear in campaign oratory and in immediate post-election analyses. Assumptions as to courses and fates often and rapidly turn out to be completely off-base or only partially accurate.

A very great deal can happen to change or discredit the assumptions of four, or two, years ago, as this presidential election has again demonstrated.

The long view of the American political experience, thus calls for caution in answering true or false to any or all of the following:

✓ The labor-liberal-minorities coalition is irrevocably dissolved.

✓ The South has solidly switched to a new allegiance.

✓ Youth power has fizzled as a significant political force.

✓ Anyone is washed up politically.

✓ Anyone has anything sewed up for 1976. (NEA)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — When the Pentagon brass want to publish a book, they go about it with all the massive planning of a military invasion.

For instance, assistant defense secretary Daniel Henkin thought it would be nice, as part of the 200th anniversary of the armed forces in 1975, to publicize "how defense expenditures often have done double duty through their impact on the quality of life and living."

This started the Pentagon wheels whirling. Task forces were formed; meetings were held; research was ordered. The planners have now come up with an exhaustive proposal for a 300-page book portraying the military's humanitarian accomplishments.

According to the Pentagon's calculations, this would take five historians each putting in "1½ man-years at an average salary of $19,000." That would be 7½ man-years, right there.

Two editors working six months each, two cartographers putting in another three months apiece and one photo editor working one year would add another 2½ man-years to the project. The planners figure two clerk-typists would have to spend a total of three man-years typing up everything.

The salaries alone would come to $180,500. The production costs are calculated around $700,000. "All these figures," declares an internal memo, "need further refinement but they produce a ballpark figure of around $1 million as total cost that would need to be budgeted for this project."

The proposed million-dollar book, it is suggested, "would be a semipopular in style, well illustrated and presented in as attractive a format as possible, including color illustrations."

A suggested outline cites such humanitarian accomplishments by the armed forces as "soldiers and sailors as governors and administrators in occupied territories and possessions" and "the enforcement of law and order by the armed forces from the Whiskey Rebellion to the anti-Vietnam demonstrations."

Merry-go-roundBrass think big about massive book

A spokesman explained that the million-dollar project has been approved by Ad Hoc Task Force No. 1 but hasn't yet been endorsed by the Army Staff Bicentennial Committee, let alone the top Pentagon brass.

While most Americans are shivering from winter's first nip, dapper Congressman Fernand St. Germain and his family will be lolling in the Florida sunshine as guests of the U.S. Savings and Loan League.

The league is flying St. Germain, his pretty wife and their two children from chilly Providence, R.I., to balmy Miami for the annual "S and L" convention.

Not only is the league picking up the $772.64 bill from Eastern Airlines for four first-class tickets, but it is also paying St. Germain at least $1,000 for addressing the convention.

He won't have to worry about a rousing ovation from the conventioneers. For as chairman of a House banking subcommittee, the Rhode Island Democrat reportedly made a dubious deal with the bankers on behalf of the savings and loan crowd.

He pushed through a bill which would allow bankers to avoid certain important state taxes. In exchange, the bankers promised to go easy on the savings and loan industry's pet projects, competent sources tell us. St. Germain insisted the two measures be tied together when he reported them out of his subcommittee.

The double-barreled bill failed only because wise old Rep. Wright Patman, who has been Horatio at the Bridge on so much special interest legislation, let it languish in his full House Banking Committee.

Next session, the savings and loan outfits are looking to St. Germain for legislation that would let them jack up interest rates in the middle of a mortgage. The hapless homeowner who takes out an 8 per cent, 20-year mortgage, thereby, might have his rate boosted to 10 per cent or more any time during the 20 years.

The savings and loan associations also want a measure passed to let them convert mutual associations into stock companies. This could give officers and other insiders windfall profits without benefiting the ordinary depositors.

In the past, St. Germain has questioned both these measures; and, in general, his record on consumer issues has been good. We were unable to reach him for his comment.

Footnote: The league has also offered Patman an honorarium and expenses to address the convention. But unlike St. Germain, Patman has done no favors for the industry.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Nelly Bly was the pen name of a reporter for the New York World who traveled around the world in 72 days, 6 hours and 11 minutes starting Nov. 14, 1889. Her voyage was made to better that of Phileas Fogg whose fictional voyage in 1872 was popularized in Jules Verne's "Around the World in 80 Days." The World Almanac says.

You think of the many times when the U.S. and Russia could have gone to war over the Germanys — and shudder.

You think how inviting it was for the United States to take rash action after the seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo, or North Korea's shooting down of our EC-121 aircraft, or the many periodic outbursts of violence in the demilitarized zone between the two Koreas. And you sigh in relief.

This is not to suggest that there will not be more killing in Indochina or more crises in Europe. An observation of the current state of mankind suggests that it is folly to expect lasting peace — or even a generation of it.

But it may be that if the great powers keep their cool, these regional and internal squabbles need not blow up into massive conflagrations. And who knows but what man might cut the period of transition from madness to sanity from 25 years to 20, or even to 10?

Freedom of press
fragile

By SEN. THOMAS F. EAGLETON

Thomas Jefferson once wrote, "Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be hunted without being lost." The hunt is now on.

Some of you may have read about the case of Peter Bridge, a Newark, N.J., reporter who recently spent almost a month in jail for refusing to answer questions before a grand jury.

Eagleton No one has argued for an absolute privilege for newsmen that would keep them from testifying before grand juries in all instances. Certainly, reporters have responsibilities as citizens to testify when the government can prove without a shadow of a doubt that the reporter's testimony is vital to its case, that there is a "compelling need" for his testimony.

But in the case of Peter Bridge there was no such "compelling need" — only a government "fishing expedition" to see whether he might have any hearsay information of even marginal interest to the grand jury.

This case, and others like it should be a signal to every American who believes in a free press. It is another link in a chain being pulled tighter around the neck of one of our most important institutions.

The vitriolic verbal attacks of 1969 and 1970 have perhaps subsided, but their legacy lives on in the form of more subtle and more dangerous incursions into freedom of the press.

I do not believe that these incursions are necessarily conscious efforts to destroy press freedom, but I do believe they represent an officially approved loss of reverence for the very concept of a free press.

The central question in all of this is whether we are going to allow our government to treat the press as its own investigating arm. Will a reporter's confidential files be available to the government for inspection whenever it wants? Or will we insist that these files are NOT available — unless the public need, clearly defined, is overriding?

With the abdication of the courts, the burden of the defense for a free press now switches to Congress and the state legislatures. In Congress, committees of both the Senate and House have held hearings on the need for a legislated "newspaper's privilege."

I do want to emphasize that we are not in imminent danger of government takeover of the presses, nor of mass jailings of dissenting journalists. I do not counsel overreaction, but I do think we have been given fair warning that freedom of the press is not a routine fact of life, but rather a prize which must be continually fought for and guarded.

The public cannot afford to stand by in indifference when their free press is threatened. It is their main link to the inner workings of the government they select.

Perhaps we as a society have been spoiled until recent years by printing presses that roll on and broadcasts that appear promptly at six, seven, and eleven each evening.

But if we have been spoiled and inattentive until now, now is the time to sit up and take notice. We will enjoy a free press only as long as we work for and cherish it.

If Peron ReturnsArgentina Will Stand Still

By LOUIS UCHITELLE
Associated Press Writer

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — All Argentina will halt its activities Friday if Juan Domingo Peron flies home on schedule.

The plan is for the populist ex-president to leave his Madrid exile and come back in a chartered plane, ending 17 years of exile.

Loyal followers are bracing for the homecoming. So are the armed forces, which tried for years to make Argentines forget Peron.

The General Confederation of Labor, Argentina's AFL-CIO, is planning a nationwide general strike on homecoming day. This will permit thousands of wage earners—perhaps as many as one million people—to gather for the arrival.

Not since Peron was overthrown by the armed forces in September 1955 has there been the prospect of such a turnout.

Authorities fear an enthusiastic crowd might get out of hand. They also fear terrorism from Peronist guerrilla organizations who oppose any attempt by Peron to negotiate with Argentina's conservative military government.

The preparations being made for Peron's trip indicate he is coming to Argentina for only two or three days to sign an agreement with the armed forces.

A large army force has been assigned to guard Peron and to shield him from the public.

The principal point of the agreement with the military government would be Peron's endorsement of a presidential candidate acceptable to the armed forces. The military has scheduled elections next March 11.

Peron encourages this interpretation of his trip by stating that he is returning "in the service of peace and understanding" to find solutions, not conflicts. He asked his followers to "cooperate, so that my mission can be carried out in an atmosphere of peace and tranquility."

In a similar vein, President Alejandro Lanusse has said the Committee Disregards Campaign Funding Law

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican committee that channeled $100,000 into President Nixon's re-election campaign says it does not have to make known the sources of its funds despite a new federal law requiring disclosure of all over-$100 contributors.

Auditors for the General Accounting Office say the position of the Executive Club of the Republican party of New Jersey, if upheld in the courts, could open a major loophole in the elections law which took effect last April 7.

The club contends its money came from dues and that dues are not contributions. GAO auditors say there could be a proliferation of such clubs to evade the full disclosure provisions of the new law.

The auditors say they will press the club for disclosure, possibly launching a field audit in the next few weeks and then turning their findings over to the Justice Department if the club remains adamant.

The name of the Executive Club first emerged in October in reports by national and state-level Finance Committees to Re-elect the President. In all, the club reported contributing $3,000 to each of 33 Nixon committees and $1,000 to a 34th.

Newsmen seeking identification of the individual contributors could find no record of the club having registered with the GAO nor of its having filed any reports of expenditures or contributions.

The new law requires that any committee which anticipates collecting or spending more than $1,000 for a national candidate in any calendar year must register with the GAO. It also must file periodic reports of all contributions and expenditures of more than $100 and must show how much cash was on hand at the time of each filing.

After news stories appeared about the committee, its chairman, William B. Colsey III, a Mount Holly, N.J., attorney, filed a registration statement and reports for Sept. 10 and for the 15th and 5th days before the Nov. 7 election, the deadlines set by the law.

But Colsey, in a separate letter to the GAO and in comments affixed to each report, said the club was formed "on a local basis."

Executive Of Scouts Arrested

WEEHAWKEN, N.J. (AP) — The second highest officer in the national Boy Scout organization is free today on $10,000 bail after being charged with assault with intent to kill following an altercation in the Lincoln Tunnel.

According to Port Authority police, George C. Freeman, 63, of Alexandria, Va., became embroiled in an argument Sunday evening with an off-duty New York City patrolman, John Reig, after the cars driven by the two men collided on the New Jersey approach to the tunnel here. The tunnel links midtown Manhattan with New Jersey.

Freeman drove into the tunnel after the collision but was overtaken by Reig, who ran after him. Traffic was so heavy that Reig was able to catch up to Freeman's car on foot, authorities noted.

After overtaking Freeman, Reig climbed onto the hood of Freeman's car and fired one shot through the windshield, striking Freeman on the wrist, police said. Freeman was treated for the gunshot wound at North Hudson Hospital and released.

After the shooting, the two men were separated by Port Authority police. Freeman was charged with assault with intent to kill because he allegedly tried to run down Reig. Freeman in turn had Reig charged with assault, police said.

Freeman is assistant chief scout executive and works as a liaison between the scouts and the federal government.

Civilian Traffic To Golan Heights

TEL AVIV (AP) — Roads on Israel's frontier with Syria along the occupied Golan Heights reopened to civilian traffic Sunday, and no incidents have been reported since the attacks and counterattacks there last week, a military spokesman said today.

The spokesman said volunteers were brought in to help repair the damage caused in the fighting.

Guerrilla raids into Israel prompted Israeli warplanes to strike into Syria twice last Thursday. A three-hour artillery battle followed the air strikes, causing heavy damage on the Israeli side.

The new law requires that the minute the club began contributing to the presidential election, it became a national political committee under the act.

But GAO auditors say that the minute the club began contributing to the presidential election, it became a national political committee under the act.

After news stories appeared about the committee, its chairman, William B. Colsey III, a Mount Holly, N.J., attorney, filed a registration statement and reports for Sept. 10 and for the 15th and 5th days before the Nov. 7 election, the deadlines set by the law.

But Colsey, in a separate letter to the GAO and in comments affixed to each report, said the club was formed "on a local basis."

Veteran Member Of Congress Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-OHIO, 71, a member of Congress since 1950, died early today in Bethesda Naval Hospital, a spokesman for the congressman said.

Bow, first elected to the 82nd Congress on Nov. 7, 1950, entered the hospital for tests after the 92nd Congress closed in October. He has had a history of medical problems in recent years, an office spokesman said.

"His heart just gave out," she said.

Bow, generally regarded as a conservative, had decided to retire from Congress. He had been confirmed as ambassador to Panama but had not been sworn in. Republican Ralph Regula, a former Ohio state senator, won last Tuesday's election and was to succeed Bow.

Bow is survived by his wife,

Chiefs Fall 16-7

Steelers' Defense Halts KC

PITTSBURGH (AP) — And one day the ugly duckling Pittsburgh Steelers gazed into the pond and saw they had become a National Football League swan.

"We're good — good enough to beat anybody," quarterback Terry Bradshaw said Sunday after the Steelers' newfound wings carried them to a high-flying 17-6 win over Kansas City.

It was the fifth straight triumph for Pittsburgh, which leads the American Conference Central Division with a 7-2 record and is closing in on what may be its first title in 40 years in the NFL.

Bradshaw threw three interceptions against the Chiefs, but the Steelers survived because of a body-snatching defense and two key fumble recoveries by Jack Ham in the last quarter.

"That's the sign of a club that's going to go somewhere in the playoffs," Bradshaw gushed between puffs on a victory cigar. "The best teams around can still win when the offense or defense has a bad day. The bad ones lose."

The game did indeed belong to the Steeler defense, which blocked a first quarter field goal try by Jan Stenerud and held Kansas City to just 25 total yards the whole first half.

Kansas City running back Ed Podolak finished with 19 yards in 15 carries and more bruises than a month-old banana.

Chiefs' quarterback Len Dawson completed 17 of 36 passes, most in the second half, and he was sacked five times for 53 yards in losses.

"Pittsburgh is a heck of a football team," said Kansas City Coach Hank Stram, whose club fell to 5-4 and a half-game behind Oakland in the AFC Western Division.

"They were very impressive," he added. "We got some turnovers and breaks, but they stayed in there and played well."

The most costly turnover was a Bradshaw interception that safety Jim Kitchens returned 65 yards for a touchdown that gave the Chiefs' 7-0 halftime edge.

The running of Franco Harris, whose 17 carries for 134 yards marked his fourth time over the 100-yard mark in five games, set up two of Roy Gerela's three field goals to trim the lead to 7-6 early in the fourth quarter.

That's when the turnover pendulum swung in favor of the Steelers.

Podolak coughed up the ball on an off-tackle burst. Kansas City tackle Dave Hill had it in his grasp, but Ham wrestled it away at the Chiefs' 29 yard line.

"I didn't think the ref would give it to me because I just grabbed it out of his hands," said Ham, who led all defenders with seven tackles and three assists.

Four plays later, Gerela booted a line drive field goal of 48 yards that put Pittsburgh ahead 9-7 with just 5:10 remaining.

On the first play of the next series, Dawson flipped a short pass to fullback Jim Otis, who was belted by Ham and fumbled.

Ham emerged with the ball again and the Steelers took over at the Chiefs 22.

Harris then carried twice before going seven yards around right end for the touchdown that clinched the victory.

"This was our best win of the season," said Steeler Coach Chuck Noll. "The offense had some problems, but the defense didn't let it affect them."

Wilkins Leads Cavs, 113-107

Bulldogs Overcome Odds in Seedings

By WARREN RIPLEY
Staff Sportswriter

LINCOLN — Third-seeded Stover unseated the favored Sacred Heart Gremlins here Saturday night, 68-61, to win the Kaysinger Conference Tournament.

In the battle for third place the Smithton Tigers downed second-seeded Warsaw, behind the scoring thrust of Rusty Tempelmore and Paul Anderson, 64-57. Warsaw was the tournament's defending champion.

The Stover Bulldogs in winning the championship trophy, played and beat three teams who competed in games where a trophy was at stake. First they beat the LaMonte Vikings who won the consolation trophy; then they scored a victory over Warsaw and finally the Gremlins Saturday night.

Stover's Noel Heppard pumped in a career-high 26 points in leading the Bulldogs. Heppard hit his first four shots of the game to help Stover to a 16-13 first period advantage.

In the second stanza the Gremlins rallied behind the play of 6-3 Jeff Karigan and swingman Mike Twenter, who is subbing for the injured Keith Fischer. With 6:57 left in the second period, the Gremlins grabbed the lead at 17-16 and for a couple of forays down the floor both teams fought to control the lead. At the end of the period the Bulldogs had pumped their lead back up and were never to trail in the contest again.

With 2:49 showing on the scoreboard, Stover went into a delay game forcing Sacred Heart to come out to get them. The Bulldogs then breezed in for the victory.

Five-eleven Stover guard Paul Marriott played an important role in the game. Marriott quarterbacked the Bulldogs in breaking Sacred Heart's 2-2-1 zone press. He also fed the ball into his teammates as well as playing stand-out defense throughout the tournament.

Paul's 6-3 cousin Phillip Marriott, also turned in an outstanding performance with 18 points and controlled the boards.

For Sacred Heart, solid performances were turned in by Jeff Karigan and Mike Twenter. Twenter, although lacking Fischer's experience, turned in a fine role as a substitute.

Stover is now the only undefeated team in the conference with a 4-0 mark. Sacred Heart's slate drops to 3-1 with the loss.

Warsaw had gained the advantage with 1:12 left in the first half and had held it until they had to relieve Doug Stevens, Eddie Barnes and Steve Barb in the third period due to foul trouble. Stevens had been having a strong game from the field as well as on the boards. He scored the Wildcats' first eight points and had controlled the boards. Smithton also had some men in foul trouble but due to their excellent bench were not noticeably hurt.

Smithton pulled away in the third stanza. The Tiger press yielded many turnovers and the shooting of Anderson and Tempelmore added to the Wildcats' woes.

Jay Teter, Smithton's 6-4 front-liner, was also a big force in the outcome of the game. The big junior had one of his best games. He and Tempelmore made things tough for 6-6 Doug Stevens to hit the offensive boards.

The Wildcats made a late rush, but fell short. Warsaw Coach Chet Saladin brought the three players, who had been in foul trouble back into the contest for a final rally. After being down by 11 the 'Cats came back to within seven, 48-41, with 5:24 remaining in the tilt when Stevens drew his fifth personal. Eddie Barnes then heated up and hit four straight buckets. In all Barnes had 12 points in the fourth quarter of play but it was not enough.

Stevens took game scoring honors despite missing much of it with 22 tallies. Barnes had 14 for the losers. Tempelmore hit 20 for the victors followed closely by Anderson with 19 and Teter with 14.

Scoring
Smithton (64) — Tempelmore 20, Anderson 19, Teter 14, White 6, Turner 3, Hopper 2.
Warsaw (57) — Stevens 22, Barnes 14, Steffans 10, Barb 7, Kinkead 2, Boeger 2.
Stover (68) — Heppard 26, Phil Marriott 18, Hodges 12, Fischer 8, Paul Marriott 4.
Sacred Heart (61) — Karigan 20, Twenter 12, Borchers 10, Freund 8, Dunham 7, Lock 4.

Rough Riders Ride Alouettes Errors

OTTAWA (AP) — The Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League today began preparing for their Eastern Football Conference final series, thanking their lucky stars and a bundle of Montreal errors for their 14-11 victory over the Alouettes Saturday in the sudden-death semifinal.

The Rough Riders now must face the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a two-game, total-point final that opens here next weekend and ends in Hamilton Nov. 25.

Alouettes Errors

"It was the most magnificent ball game I have ever had a team play, period," said Coach Johnny Majors of the Cyclones, who recovered six fumbles and made two interceptions. "Merv Krakau (Iowa State defensive end) played the finest defensive game I've ever witnessed and is certainly deserving of national lineman of the week honors."

"He knocked down three passes, caused two fumbles, recovered two fumbles, rushed the passer and caught him three times for losses."

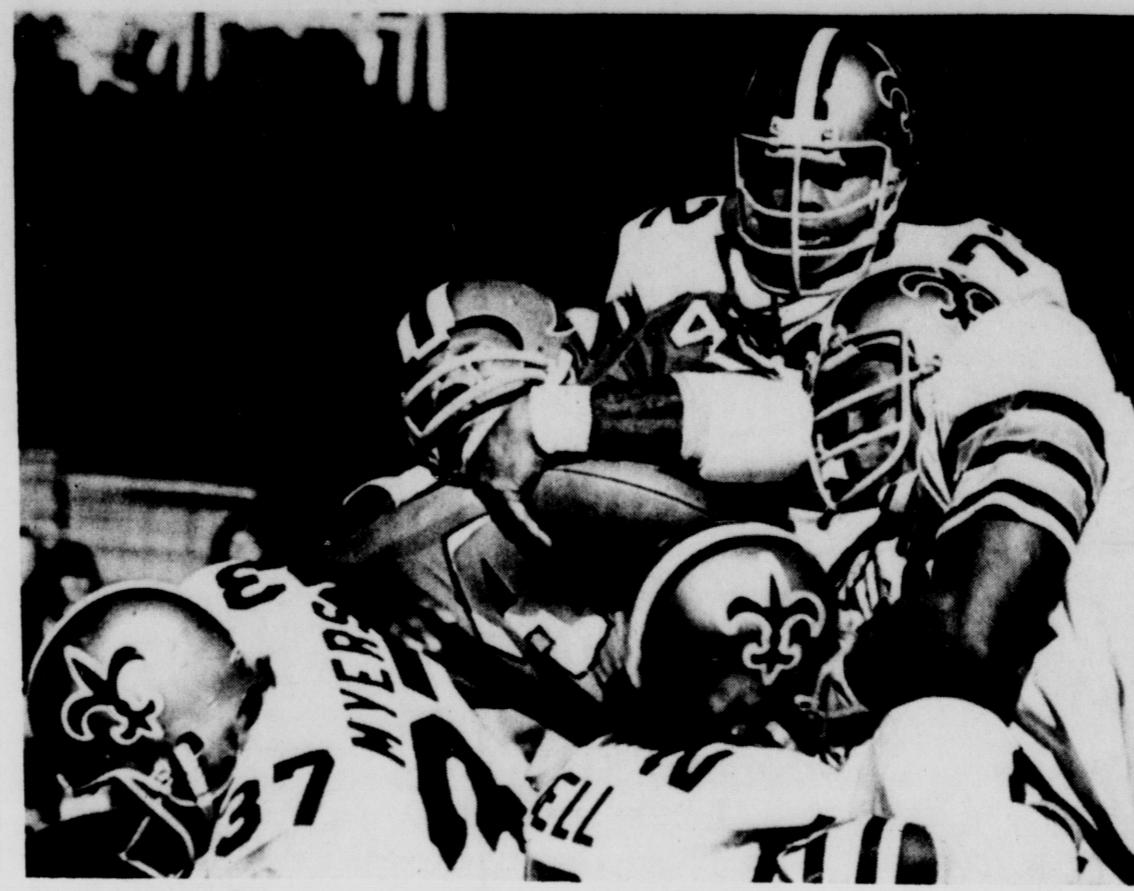

Baker Beats A.J., Petty in Close One

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Richard Petty and A.J. Foyt, two of auto racing's millionaires, climbed out of their cars at Texas World Speedway and shook hands.

"I've got to hand it to you," Petty told Foyt. "You sure can drive a race car. I'm tickled just to be in your league."

Not far away, however, Buddy Baker was being congratulated for winning the Texas 500 in a torrid late-race battle with Foyt and Petty. It came very near being a photo finish, and only Baker's iron-nerved, 6-foot-4 frame prevented it from being so.

Baker, son of still active driver Buck Baker, had dominated this final event in the Winston Cup Grand National series almost from the start. He never completely escaped Petty, but he had Foyt a lap down—two miles—at one point, only to see East played the seven and South finessed the jack. West showed out and South had no way to avoid the loss of a trump trick as well as the ace of diamonds."

Jim: "Had South led dummy's queen of spades and won with the ace if East played high he would have been able to go back to dummy and finesse against East's 10-spot. The queen play would guard against the 3-0 break."

Second Term Shakeup By Nixon Is Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Two or more Cabinet posts and dozens of White House and other key federal jobs are involved in President Nixon's tentative plans for a major second-term shakeup of the government's executive branch.

The scope of the President's plan, which he will develop in conferences with top aides at his Florida home here during the next four days, became clear within hours after he swept to landslide re-election.

Nixon summoned White House aides, the Cabinet and agency heads to a series of meetings Wednesday to deliver this message:

The second Nixon administration will stress economy and efficiency as well as responsiveness to the President's wishes. As a first step in revitalizing and reorganizing offices under his control, he wants standby resignations from all his appointees.

The White House said the President has made no decisions on what resignations to accept. But even before Tuesday's election, two early departures from his Cabinet were signaled.

Housing Secretary George Romney said in August, during a flap over federal aid to Pennsylvania flood victims, he would resign from the Cabinet. "The President urged me to stay on until after the election, and I agreed to do so," Romney said.

Melvin R. Laird has said repeatedly he would quit as secretary of Defense at the end of Nixon's first term, adding that nobody should head the Pentagon for more than four years.

Sources have said that two other Cabinet members, Labor Secretary J. D. Hodgson and Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, have indicated some interest in leaving their high-pressure posts.

Administration officials stressed, however, that none of the Cabinet members is being forced out by Nixon.

Some lower-level officials, however, might find themselves suddenly looking for new jobs. White House officials have expressed some displeasure with the lack of support Nixon's proposals have received from the middle levels of some agencies.

Sources indicated there's still another, unspoken reason behind Nixon's shakeup move—the President's desire to reward selected officials of his campaign organization.

High on this list would be campaign Director Clark MacGregor, reported to be in line for a Cabinet or other high-level government post if he wants it.

Likewise, Nixon has deep respect for the ability of former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, who headed the Democrats-for-Nixon organization. Connally probably could have virtually any Cabinet post, but says he wants none.

For a while, Connally and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller were rumored as possible successors to Secretary of State William P. Rogers. But Rogers, a long-time Nixon associate, has shown no inclination to leave his post early in a second term.

Neither has Henry A. Kissinger, star of a galaxy of White House officials, said publicly what he plans to do in second term. But there is little question that the job of chief foreign-policy adviser is his for as long as he wants it.

One of Kissinger's colleagues, presidential consultant John Scali, is reported planning to take a nongovernment job. So is Nixon's director of communications, Herbert G. Klein. But no plans have been disclosed.

And some middle-level White House aides are known to be eyeing private jobs because of the hectic 12-hour days and seven-day weeks.

The President's reorganization steps come against a backdrop of published reports linking such key White House aides as chief of staff H. R. Haldeman and appointments secretary Dwight Chapin to the controversy over the Watergate bugging incident and alleged Republican efforts to sabotage the Democratic presidential campaign.

But other White House officials say Chapin and Haldeman retain Nixon's full confidence and are expected to remain during the second term.

Nixon's top domestic aide, John D. Ehrlichman, has indicated interest in becoming attorney general if Kleindienst decides to return to private law practice, sources say.

Laird, Romney, Rogers and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe have been in the Cabinet since Nixon's inauguration in 1969. George P. Shultz was in the original Cabinet as Labor secretary but later became budget director and was named Treasury secretary last May after Connally resigned.

As successor to Laird, Deputy Secretary Kenneth Rush, seems a possible choice. Rush, who was a law professor at Duke University when Nixon studied there, came to the Pentagon after serving as U.S. ambassador to West Germany.

Speculation about a successor for Romney has centered on Samuel C. Jackson, now assistant HUD secretary for community planning and management, and Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council. Another name mentioned is that of Walter E. Washington, the Washington mayor, who has had wide experience in the housing field.

Jackson, a black, stumped the country extensively for the GOP ticket.

Appointment of Rush and either Jackson or Rumsfeld would fit the pattern of the first Nixon term: a tendency to keep things within the official family.

When Robert H. Finch relinquished the HEW post, Elliot H. Richardson, then undersecretary of State, succeeded him. James D. Hodgson was undersecretary of Labor before being named to the Cabinet.

Rogers C. B. Morton was Republican national chairman when he was selected to replace Walter J. Hickel as secretary of the Interior. Hickel's ouster by Nixon on Nov. 25, 1970, was the only Cabinet change marked by any public rancor.

Butz relishes politics, and seems likely to stay on for the time being. Some members of Congress regard Butz as somewhat abrasive, which might be a factor in Nixon's decision whether to keep him in office.

Laird has been vague about his plans. He regards himself as knowledgeable on health, education and welfare matters because of long service on House appropriations panels dealing with them. Thus he might like to switch to HEW should Richardson move out.

Insiders say he hopes he will have 18 more months at HEW before he is faced with a decision on State, if the call comes.

John Volpe says he likes his job as secretary of Transportation and will stay on as long as the President wishes, although perhaps not for a full four years. There have been published reports that Helen Bentley, chairman of the Maritime Commission, would like to succeed him.

Earl Butz, named secretary of Agriculture when Clifford M. Hardin resigned in November 1971, is another who campaigned vigorously for Nixon,

He will be stationed at Ching Chung Kang AB, Taiwan for approximately 17 months. Vestal is a 1972 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School.

Have New Programs For State

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Rep. Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, and other officers of the 1973 Missouri House of Representatives plan to present a full-scale program when the new legislature convenes Jan. 3.

Rabbitt said he and other officers elected by wide margins in a Democratic caucus Friday would get their heads together in about a week to make their plans.

As a starter, he said he was thinking about reducing the number of House committees to increase efficiency and appointing a separate committee to handle the big governmental reorganization bill. It is expected to be the biggest single task of the 1973 session and is almost ready for introduction.

Chosen to serve with Rabbitt were Rep. Kenneth J. Rothman of Clayton as majority floor leader—the job Rabbitt has held the last three sessions—and Speaker Pro Tem Richard J. DeCoster of Canton, who has served six terms in the House.

Rothman has been chairman of the Judiciary Committee and defeated Rep. Harold Verner of Hannibal, who moved to make the election unanimous. DeCoster defeated Rep. Harold Holliday of Kansas City.

Other new House officers are:

Rep. James E. Baker of Kansas City, majority whip; Rep. Gladys Marriott of Kansas City, caucus chairman; Rep. Winnie Weber of House Springs, caucus secretary, and Mrs. Agnes Moore of Ste. Genevieve, re-elected chief clerk.

Minority Republicans will hold their caucus next Thursday. Democrats will control the House, 98-65, compared with their present margin of 112-51.

Robert Cohn, a Detroit attorney, said he represented the two men in a $4-million suit charging Detroit police with brutality when Moore and Jackson were arrested on concealed-weapons charges.

Those charges were dropped, but Moore and Jackson insisted that the suit be pressed. When the City of Detroit was dropped as a party in the suit, Cohn said, they realized their chances of collecting were gone, and they grew bitter.

In Knoxville, Tenn., William V. Curd said he was Cale's father and Moore's stepfather. He said the two men were half-brothers and both were using aliases.

How the two men were connected with Cale was not known immediately, but police said Cale's mother lived at the same Detroit address listed for Moore.

A Tennessee prison spokesman said Cale was convicted in Oliver Springs, Tenn., of stealing $400 from a department-store cash register in December 1970. He was sentenced to five years for grand larceny.

After serving a year in state prison in Nashville, he was transferred to the work-release center in September. While there, he attended classes at Tennessee State University without supervision.

the boss' promise

VALUE:

Your money should buy the maximum quality at a minimum price. But my promise to you is that for value, nobody in town can or will offer you more value for your money than Kroger.

If for any reason you feel that any part of my promise is not being fulfilled to you, I want to hear from you directly. Simply ask your Kroger store manager for my private number and call me.

We're dedicated to the proposition that there's always something extra in store for you at Kroger, and I want to follow through personally on my promise to see that you get it.
